

kiss me i'm IRISH

Some call me a fishmonger, some sing songs about me. ALIVE ALIVE OH

Take a moment to meditate in the park.

Famous Irish writers, Bram Stoker, Oscar Wilde and Samuel Beckett studied at this college. A historian named Lecky had a statue erected in his honor here in 1904.

Pass through the Arch, make your way to Harry street to find the first black Irish rock star

I'm best known for my novel 'The Picture of Dorian Gray' and a famous poet.

This Cathedral is named for the patron saint of the nation.

In Stephen's Green you'll find me. I flow wildly in Iveagh Gardens.

Make your way towards High street to find the old city walls.

Still in Stephen's Green there's a memorial to the hunger pains that moved the Irish to leave their country.

Between Wood Quay and Wellington Quay you'll find me lying as a reminder of Viking history.
