

"Rest in peace," I say while putting flowers at this stone and beginning to pray.

Don't let them see your face. If you are wise, you will wear this great disguise.

Casting evil spells and mixing potions, but look at that! While flying on my broom I lost my hat!

On little padded feet, I walk with steps light. My nose is soft pink; My fur is dark as night.

Wrap me up! Wrap me up so I stay fresh and will keep! Wrap me up so I can enjoy my forever sleep.

Open my head, Scoop out my brains, Light a candle and Hope it doesn't rain!

No feet or hands, yet there's much I can do. I float and fly and like to scream, "Boo!"

If you only knew my pain! I just want to cry! Can you help me find my other eye?

On your marks, get set... Stand in me I'll get you wet.

There you are! You played your part. You found me here; you are so smart. Congratulations! You have earned the prize.
