

Cookies for walls and gumdrops for doors. I could look like Santa's house or I might look like yours!

We don't like the summer, we can't move at all. We need lots of ice, but be careful, don't fall!

What did one angel say to the other?

It's Santa's home base at the top of the world. Elves wrap presents with ribbons all curled.

How do you know if there's a reindeer in your refrigerator?

Why did the elf push his bed into the fireplace?

My gown is white, my hat is gold. A horn or harp in my hands I hold. Who am I?

No beginning or end, but I have bows and baubles. When you open the door, everything wobbles. What am I?

We come in different shapes, colors and sizes. On our insides, we're full of surprises! Who are we?

I stand tall and straight, five points on my head. I can glow softly in lights green and red. Who am I?
