

We are not alone. can you count the eyes that are watching you?

Creepy crawlies all over the place. If you spy them stay out of their way.

They live in a web and have six legs. They make mama scream!

They drink red blood and fly around your head. Beware there are three.

Halloween is the night for the dead who like to fly over your head.

The grave of Frankenstein's. Quiet and hurry he's waking up.!

They wear pointy hats and have one tooth. She comes in two's with a friend to boot!

You think its over but it is not the zombie is still lurking to give you a scare!

Oh how the ghost and skeletons like to play. Its not just your space today.

The ghouls are not inside or out but hiding where you hang out.
