

Out in the garden where many things grow. Flowers, squash and berries, make sure to look low.

Out in the hallway near the stairs, Don't worry it won't bite, it will just stare.

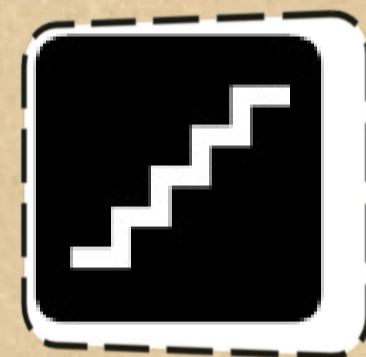

Out in the yard where there are many links is an 8 legged creature that may make you shriek.

In a place that you converge to eat, Sometimes your head is closer to your seat.

On a tree you may spot this, you've seen this before, But this one will stay there. It will fly nevermore.

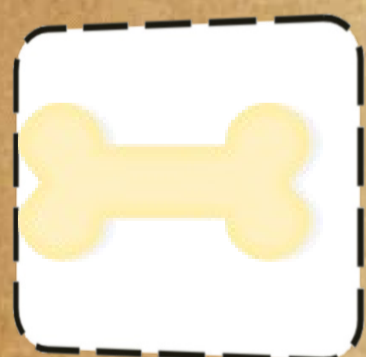

Again we are traveling near some stairs, some wraps are what this hidden creature wears.

Near the place where you mix compounds to brew, is a creature who is always asking "Who?".

I travel the air, I flutter and fly, to find my home you have to look high!

Shaking and rambling all around, in some rocks is where I'm found.

Flickering in the breeze is a flame, Find it in the yard to win this game!
