

This is where the beauty begins and ends each day. To connect it is easy as you carry it around all day. Place your hand over it to feel the rhythm.

As old as she may be, she is still radiant in all of her glory. Look up to see me hanging around.

What reflects back is the truth. She was given to you at first arrival in the salon.

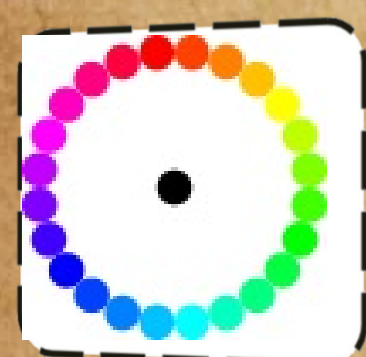

An outdoor piece of beauty that sings to your heart. Take a photo if you can.

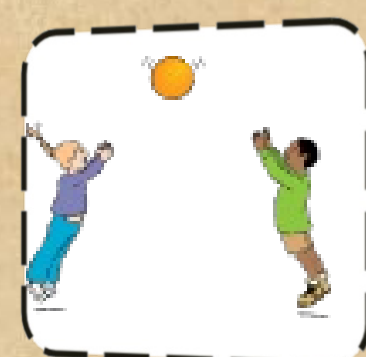

A tool that is used to enhance your outer beauty almost everyday.

Something that nourishes your inner beauty. That always makes you feel warm on the inside.

An item that is in your colour palette. If you are not sure of your colours. follow your heart.

Find the play room. This is where the games take place. Take a photo of you in the room or make a note of where and what it is.

She is stoic and strong and has stood on the grounds for thousands of years. Find me and let me know what she is.

This is the place that once almost was torn to the ground. Yet has stood strong and hidden. Some would worship here.
