

I am the shape of a hexagon, bright red and have an important four letter word. That's right I'm a stop sign.

I let people know how fast or slow they should be driving. I have a number on me and I'm a rectangular shape. Speed Limit

I'm a square and have a big arrow with a red line drawn across. I let people know they can't turn left.

I am a diamond shape, yellow and have a picture of children walking. I let people know there are kids around the area.

I am a small blue square and have a symbol of a girl. I let people know only girls are allowed here. I also have braille so people who can't see will be able to read me.

I am a small blue square and have a symbol of a boy. I let people know only boys are allowed here. I also have braille so people who can't see will be able to read me.

I am located on top of doors, I'm squared and have bright red letters on me that help people find a way out of a building.

I have a teacher's name on me to let students and others know where to find their classroom.

I'm a yellow triangle and warn kids to be quiet. I'm located towards the back of our school. (buses)

Just for look at the other signs and discuss the colors of most signs. Why are they these colors?

