

You find these on trees and they can be many different colors.

These are often broken and will have leaves attached to them.

These travel in the air and have wings.

Be careful when you search for these; they can bite even though they are really small.

Squirrels love to eat these for breakfast, lunch, and dinner.

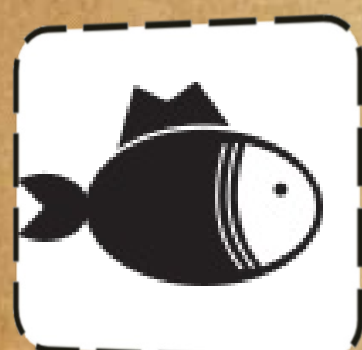

These are often found living in trees and love to eat acorns.

This is a tree that has died and has fallen on the ground.

This tree is full of life and is standing upright.

You find these living in water.

This is a place where we can swim, fish, and have a good time.